

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

An add-on extension ladder is removably mountable to a portion of a conventional ladder to extend the reach of the conventional ladder without any structural modification to the conventional ladder. The add-on extension has integral elements for engaging rungs on the upper portion of the conventional ladder to easily mount and remove the extension ladder to and from the conventional ladder.